CNMT 210 Fall 2015 Final Project - JavaScript - Starting Point
Checkpoint Date: 12/8/2015

The following are the requirements for the JavaScript in the project. Remember: All JavaScript should be contained in external files. It is expected that you will need to rework some of your HTML for JavaScript (though you may not have to).

The page should build on the template that you created earlier; Therefore, those requirements are not repeated here.

index.html

The sidebar on the index.html page should contain content displaying today's date from the perspective of the client when they visit the page. For example, "Today is...".

contact.html

Adding JavaScript and optionally CSS to validate that all required fields are filled in and that the zip code is five digits. Provide visual and textual feedback to the user about the validation error(s). You may use div or span as needed for the error displays.
